Document DUO-BACKGROUND-01 | Available 2026-02-27

Prepared by RealityCheck source digest

For Scenario analyst

REAL COMPANY BACKGROUND. This is a source-cited summary; no scenario financials are company facts.

Public source

This digest summarizes Duolingo Inc's Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2025, filed February 27, 2026. It is a selected business-background digest, not the full filing or a lender underwriting memo.

Business facts

Duolingo provides a learning platform with free access and optional paid features. Its revenue sources include subscriptions, advertising, English proficiency testing and in-app purchases. Annual subscription payments can arrive before the related revenue is recognized. Mobile distribution and collections depend substantially on third-party platforms, including Apple and Google. The filing discusses competition for learners' attention and spending, payment timing, hosting costs and willingness to pay.

References

Item 1 Business describes the freemium model. Item 1A Risk Factors discusses third-party platforms and competition. Note 2 Revenue Recognition and Cost of Revenues explains subscription revenue, deferred revenue and processing fees.

Use in this demonstration

The hypothetical borrower in documents 02 to 09 is invented. Its scale, subscription definitions, annual price, loan and finances are independent scenario assumptions. None of those figures is a reported Duolingo result. Public facts do not establish that Duolingo has the fictional loan or that any future scenario event occurred.
